About me

My name is Amir Skoric. My parents are from Bosnia, but I was born and raised in Denmark. I am 26 years old and have completed my education as a web developer. I am also a trained multimedia designer. My ultimate dream is to become a frontend web developer. In my free time I do everything from playing video games to producing music as a fun little hobby.

Amir Skoric

Qualified web developer

Summary

Dedicated and technically skilled web developer with a strong understanding of UX and a focus on effective, user-friendly digital solutions. Experience with HTML, CSS and JavaScript, and deep insight into frameworks such as React and Vue for web and app development.

I have built strong visual skills through Photoshop, and a background I designed was used by the YouTuber "danooct1". My experience with graphic design enables me to create visually appealing and functional user interfaces.

I also have solid experience with content creation, especially within video and music production, as well as a technical flair for quick problem-solving.
